THE MAISON CHRISTOFLE

In the grand tradition of silversmithing, since its creation in 1830 Christofle has offered objects that are beautiful and useful, reflecting the French art of living.

In 1830, Charles Christofle, the house's founder, created a jewelry workshop under his own name. A visionary enamored by technological innovation; he revolutionized the world of silver. As a master silversmith, Christofle elevated the silversmithing of cutlery, tableware, decorative objects, and sculptures to a true art, exclaiming "only one quality, the best! "

In 2019, Christofle continues to place excellence at the core of its requirements.

THE ART OF SHARING

Today, Christofle is reinventing conviviality and making the art of sharing a true art of living. From Europe to the United States and Asia, the brand's know-how now spans 5 universes: the graciousness of dining, exchanges around the bar, the taste for beauty through decor, the pleasure of gifting through jewelry and accessories, and a complete collection for children.

Christofle accompanies important celebrations (birth, marriage, promotion, retirement) and everyday moments of merriment.

TALISMAN

A burst of color comes to the table for an enchanting dining experience

In 1986, Bernard Yot and Studio Christofle designed Talisman, inspired by the Art Deco style. It is a collection unlike any other that celebrates color and the uniqueness of the hosts who chooses it.

Talisman is a precious collection, made to measure only.

To the eyes' delight, the collection is available in an infinite number of colours. The design of the curved silver-plated metal ribs emphasizes the matt finish of the chosen colour with its shine.

The Talisman collection is available for tableware such as forks, knives and spoons but also in serving cutlery.

Talisman adds colour to any table in a very personal way.

TALISMAN

The Talisman collection highlights the Christofle know-how with elegance and endless possibilities of personalization

Christofle took inspirational notes from the famous cloisonné enamels whose process was rediscovered in the 19th century.

Today, Talisman's design mirrors that of the champlevé enamels.

For this exclusive collection, lacquer is combined with silver or gold flatware to create an unforgettable motif. The metal mold of the flatware's handles are made hollow and filled with lacquer in a hue of the person's choosing.

TALISMAN

Christofle begins the process by stamping the cover in the chosen metal, leaving hollow parts to accommodate the lacquer.

After this step, it is sanded. This sanding allows the lacquer to cling on to the metal.

Then, 2 coats of lacquer are applied to give the color and 16 coats of varnish. This step is repeated numerous times and is applied by hand. This tedious and careful process helps make Talisman solid and resistant.

The final step entails a topcoat of emery-coating to distinguish the contrast between the colored lacquer and metal frame.

After, each piece is hand polished to reveal the perfect shine. The Art Deco design of the ribs amplifies the saturation of the chosen color.
